

Weekly Seminar Series

THURSDAYS at 11 AM
Chair: Cathy Laetz

MAY 01	Estimating historical sensitivities of groundfish to dissolved oxygen in the northeastern Pacific Ocean	Julia Indivero Ph.D candidate University of Washington School of Aquatic and Fishery Sciences
MAY 08	All eyes and ears: Shifting trophic trajectories and competition through ontogeny reveal the ecological impacts of invasive fishes	Jessica Diallo Ph.D candidate University of Washington School of Aquatic and Fishery Sciences
MAY 15	NO SEMINAR: FOCUS DAY
MAY 22	ReShark: Reestablish zebra shark populations in eastern Indonesia	Andy Sim Biologist Seattle Aquarium
MAY 29	Assessing the impacts of nationwide registrations of pesticides on endangered species: Challenges and approaches to applying the science	David Baldwin, PhD Endangered Species Biologist NOAA Fisheries, Office of Protected Resources
JUN 05	Floating wetlands	Meaghan O'Connor Lenth &amp; Sloane Palmer Restoration Biologist; MLA student Herrera Environmental Consultants; University of Washington, School of Architecture
JUN 12	Cumulative impacts of climate change, contaminants and nutrients on Puget Sound	Alaia Morell, PhD Postdoctoral Researcher University of Washington & Northwest Fisheries Science center